Members Meeting Wednesday @ 9am

SPEAKER: Captain Wel Gamble

TITLE: A Life Well Lived as a Guardian of the Reef.

ABSTRACT: I will be presenting a broad overview of the role of a Reef Pilot from a very personal perspective. It will include the treasures and tribulations of my 32 years on the Reef and the experiences I have had in the time.

BIO: Captain Wel. Gamble spent 52 years as a seafarer attaining the rank of Master before becoming a Great Barrier Reef pilot for 32 of those years. He piloted 1373 ships in the Great Barrier Reef and PNG waters exclusively doing cruise ships for his last five years as a pilot.

After working as General Manager of Auriga Pilots, which is the operating company now managing Pilots working in the reef, he retired in July 2023 but still provides occasional consultancy services to the industry.

He developed a lecture program for the cruise ships which always included a very personalised view of his vocation as a Great Barrier Reef pilot or "Guardian of the Reef" as their company motto states. He maintains a close association with the environmental managers on the reef remaining up to date on this issue. He is also a close associate of the unique indigenous Torres Strait people, a number of whom are close friends.

3D Printer arrives at the Shed

The Shed has purchased a very capable 3D printer that now resides in the Cox Computer Room. The printer has been fired up and 2 test prints made; a small scraper for cleaning schmutz off the build plate and a small bud vase.

The scraper took 10 minutes to print and consumed $0.25 in PLA Filament. The Vase took 9 hours to print and consumed <$5.00 in filament. These were printed using a fine 0.4mm diameter nozzle that gives an excellent finish together with great resolution but takes a long time to print. Switching to a larger nozzle (0.8 mm) will result in a coarser finish and a much shorter print time.

The Bambu Labs X-1 Printer can print objects using a variety of plastic filaments with varying properties, finish and colours. The printer has a useful AMS feeder that allows for up to 4 different filaments to be loaded and printed. The printer has a glass enclosure and an extraction fan with an activated filter to capture any fumes.

We will be offering lessons on how to create a 3D computer model and then print it out. As with any production tool there is learning and training involved with operating it effectively.

Contact Geoff if you are interested in finding out more about this technology.

And finally for this week...

This show looks like a ripper!

<https://theshovel.com.au/2024/04/10/channel-7-launches-new-reality-show-expenses/>

Let the mirth spray forth:

I saw an ad for burial plots, and thought to myself
this is the last thing I need.

My neighbor rang on my doorbell at 3am. Can you believe it!?
Luckily I was still up playing the drums.

What do you call an underwater dog?
A subwoofer.

What's the difference between a cranky two-year-old and a duckling?
One is a whiny toddler and the other is a tiny waddler.

My friend's Xbox got stolen
He was so upset about it that he couldn't be consoled.

How did Bilbo survive the entire Lord of the Rings trilogy?
Because old Hobbits die hard...

People call me self-centered.
But that's enough about them.

People say you hit your prime when you turn 23
but you also hit it at 29, 31, 37, 41, 43, 47, 53, 59, 61, 67, 71, 73, 79, 83, 89, and 97

My aunt is a church official who organizes parishioners' personal information.
Her job title is Nun of Your Business.

I was told I could look at the eclipse through a colander.
I tried it but it strained my eyes!

In a safety meeting at the Shed they asked me what steps I'd take in a fire.
Apparently "Really big and fast ones" was the wrong answer.

My wife told me: Sex is better on vacation.
I wasn't expecting that on the postcard she sent from France...

Today, I was really struggling to get my wife's attention.
So I sat down on the couch and looked comfortable. That did the trick.

My wife said she wants to pursue her dream of learning to drive a steamroller.
I said I'm not going to stand in her way.

My wife is blaming me for ruining her birthday.
That's ridiculous, I didn't even know it was her birthday.
